LOGLINE

An overly confident adventurer chasing a childhood dream of exploring the unknown, bites off more than he can chew when he recruits a funny entrepreneur and quick-witted model. This comedic trio takes you on a rollercoaster ride full of chaos and shenanigans as they investigate mysterious places, urban legends, and the paranormal.

A perfectly mismatched trio headed out into unknown territory,

What could possibly go wrong?

SYNOPSIS

David, a former animal control officer, who has always been intrigued by the unknown, embarks on a lifelong dream of adventure and travel to uncover some of the world's greatest mysteries.

Whether it be urban legends, UFOs, or digging up ancient history, David will stop at nothing to find the truth.

He bites off more than he can chew when recruiting a quirky business entrepreneur, Steve, to handle the papers behind the scenes.

However, Steve has a little plan of his own.

SYNOPSIS

After years of being stuck behind a desk, Steve steps outside of his comfort zone to do something exciting. He convinces David to let him tag along. Overjoyed, Steve immediately steps up and takes charge, recruiting a third addition to the team. Adeliiese (Addy) is a quick-witted former triathlete, model and no newcomer to travel. She's a valuable addition who keeps the team organized and on track.

Especially Steve.

SYNOPSIS

They become a comedic adventure team like no other. Their unorthodox chemistry bring seat-grIPPING excitement to every unique endeavor, whether they are learning to drive a tractor while hunting for treasure, gearing up to safely rappel for some cave exploration, or confronting their own fears while dealing with restless spirits, they use every resource they can get their hands on to get the job done.

As they journey together to seek the truth, This undynamic trio of adventure push through boundaries, overcome obstacles and ultimately decipher fact from fiction.

David Dossett

David, is a overly confident, adventurer who has a background in cryptids, mysteries and the paranormal.

He will tackle it all to find the truth while having the adventure of a lifetime. Even if he loses his own shoes in a muddy river or trips over a shovel left by Steve, David chuckles through it all.

David has a contagious laugh and a strong sense of leadership; he guides Steve and Addy, through the trials of exploration; no matter the obstacles, and there's quite a few.

Bringing humor and compassion to the toughest situations, he always finds time to help local wildlife along the way.

Adeliiese Murielle

Adeliiese, a smart and level-headed young woman who is ditzzy at times, becomes the valuable third addition to the team. As a former tri-athlete and model, she is no newcomer to travel and the outdoors; relocating from Canada to California with her eyes set on a new path, she finds herself stepping right into the role she's always dreamed of.

Addy does the initial research, keeps the team organized, and is tough enough to tackle almost any obstacle. Steve and Addy unknowingly become the tag team who accidentally sabotages David's every move. When the unexpected happens, its Addy to the rescue: to keep the peace and salvage the situation. Especially when Steve needs her most.

Steve's appearance reflects exactly what's on the inside: quirky funny, and undeniably likeable. Bored with retirement, Steve tosses aside his tie and corporate mentality and steps outside of his comfort zone and into a new pair of hiking boots with confidence, to live the life of an adventurer.

But in reality? Steve really doesn't know a thing about adventuring but he plays it off quite well. With David's expert guidance, there shouldn't be a problem, right?

Steve has a tendency to cause alarming chaos wherever he goes, however his wisdom and life experiences always pulls the team through.

No Matter The Risk...

No Matter The Place...
